Brand Positioning

1.1 Brand Mission

To showcase all that Ohio has to offer as a place of adventure, a place of promise, and the place for you.

1.2 Brand Vision

To be the state where all can follow their hearts, realize their dreams, and experience unparalleled opportunity.

1.3 Brand Story

Ohio is more than just a place on a map. It's a place in people's minds, and in their hearts. Ohio, is a brand.

Our brand theme, "Ohio, The Heart of it All," speaks to Ohio's central geographic location — we're within a day's drive of 60% of the U.S. and Canadian populations. But just as importantly, it conveys that Ohio is the heart of the heartland. The heart-shaped state. The home of heartwarming stories and heartfelt joy.

When we say the heart of it all...we mean ALL. This is a brand for all of Ohio, uniting all the things we love about our great state under one powerful phrase. It's also an incredibly flexible and versatile theme that works in many ways, including the examples that follow...

1.3 Brand Story

Ohio is...

The heart of opportunity.

Whether you're starting a business, looking to change careers, or working toward a better future, Ohio brings life goals to life.

The heart of adventure.

We're home to 75 free state parks, five zoos, two amazing amusement parks, Cuyahoga Valley National Park, and thousands of events and festivals.

The heart of technology.

From Intel to Google to Honda's new EV plant and more, we're building on our innovative history and staking our claim as the Silicon Heartland.

The heart of family.

If you're reuniting with your family, starting your own, or finding a community that feels like home, Ohio welcomes you.

The heart of education.

Higher learning is a high priority in Ohio, with 14 public universities, 23 community and technical colleges, and over 50 private colleges and universities.

The heart of creativity.

Inventors, artists, writers, rock stars and rock star chefs all let their creative minds shine in Ohio.

The heart of prosperity.

Ohio boasts the 7th largest economy in the U.S. and is home to 25 Fortune 500 companies.

For some, the brand theme may evoke fond feelings of nostalgia. "Ohio, The Heart of it All" was the state's much-loved tagline from the mid 1980s to 2001, and it still holds a spot in the hearts of many Ohioans. And while we're proud of our past, we're looking to the future, building on that brand equity and adding modern updates. Crafting something familiar, yet fresh.

This is Ohio's time. Companies are investing here and creating countless opportunities. We've been recently recognized as a leading state for affordability and quality of life. It's time to tell our story. It's time for a creative, inclusive, unifying brand that positions Ohio for today, and tomorrow.

Visual System

Ohio Identity

Ohio is bursting with opportunity, and this logo embodies that optimism.

The word Ohio extends beyond our borders, with its italicized modern monoline script leaning into the future. The flowing typography conveys feelings of warmth, creativity, and connectedness, while the bold sans serif is robust and legible. A subtle but noteworthy design element is the “infinity sign” at the top of the capital O, signifying the infinite possibilities in Ohio.

2.1 Primary Formats

Brand Logo + Theme | Horizontal and Vertical

Two lockups — horizontal and vertical — have been designed for maximum flexibility and should be used based on what is appropriate to the given design composition.

Brand Logo

Depending on application and intent, the brand logo may be used without the theme.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: the size and spacial relationship between the brand logo and the theme should remain as seen at right; however, in select circumstances dictated by application or format, the relationship may change. This is an exception and should be approved by the brand/design management team prior to any use.

2.1 Secondary Formats

Brand Logo + Theme | Horizontal

In certain instances, the theme as part of the horizontal lockup may be styled as two lines or a single line. These applications are exceptions and used when the primary applications are not possible.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: the size and spacial relationship between the brand logo and the theme should remain as seen at right; however, in select circumstances dictated by application or format, the relationship may change. This is an exception and should be approved by the brand/design management team prior to any use.

2.1 Ohio.org Formats

Brand Logo + Theme + URL | Horizontal and Vertical

When necessary, the Ohio Identity can be paired with the Ohio.org URL. Size and placement have been carefully determined to maintain proper visual hierarchy. All versions of the brand logo + theme lockups should follow this composition.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: the size and spacial relationship between the URL and the theme should remain as seen at right; however, in select circumstances dictated by application or format, the relationship may change. This is an exception and should be approved by the brand/design management team prior to any use.

2.1 Ohio.gov Format

Brand Logo + URL

To communicate the Ohio.gov URL, a single mark has been created using the brand logo and the domain extension. The size and spacial relationship between the elements should remain as seen at right.

2.1 Color Variations

Primary Use - Two Color

The primary color configuration for the brand logo + theme is Cardinal Red and Buckeye Blue (see page 20 for approved colors), for all formats (primary, secondary and with URL). Approved backgrounds include white and light-colored photography.

Primary Use - White

As an alternate to the two color version, the white reverse version of the Ohio Identity can be used for all formats (primary, secondary and with URL). Approved backgrounds include applying it over Buckeye Blue, Cardinal Red and dark-colored photography.

2.1 Color Variations

Secondary Use - Single Color

At times, the brand logo + theme can be used as a single color, limited to Buckeye Blue, Cardinal Red or black (see page 20 for approved colors).

Secondary Use - Specialty

Embossed, foil stamped or embroidered applications should adhere to the specified color versions.

2.1 Specifications

Minimum Size

To preserve the integrity of the Ohio Identity, both the brand logo and theme must be readable. The recommended minimum allowable reproduction sizes for all versions of the identity are shown at right.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: at times there may be very small applications for the Ohio Identity. In these instances, the brand logo can be reduced smaller than the recommended minimum size so long as it maintains clear visibility of all components. This is an exception and should be approved by the brand/design management team prior to any use.

Clear Space

All versions of the Ohio Identity have a minimum clear space. This is based on the distance between the top of the “O” and the red state outline above it, shown as “x” to the right. When possible, no other competitive design elements should be positioned within this space—including type, photography, and illustration. Please note that photography or illustration may still be used as a background.

2.1 Uses in text

Specifications

When referring to the Ohio Identity in body copy, place the brand logo + theme in quotations marks, use title case capitalization, and place a comma after the state name.

When used as a headline, quotation marks can be removed.

“Ohio, The Heart of it All”

Ohio, The Heart of it All

2.1 Restrictions

A. Elements

Do not change the size or spacial relationship of any elements within the Ohio Identity.

B. Modifiers

Do not modify the Ohio Identity with words, numbers or phrases.

C. Type

Do not typeset the theme; instead, always use the provided identity assets.

D. Proportions

Do not distort the Ohio Identity by changing the horizontal or vertical proportions. Always scale the identity proportionally.

E. Color & Shadowing

Do not use the Ohio Identity in a color or color combination other than the specified uses, including the use of drop shadows.

F. Shadows

Do not apply drop shadows or other special effects.

G. Position

Do not rotate or crop the Ohio Identity in a manner other than originally designed.

H. Backgrounds

Do not use the Ohio Identity on colors other than Cardinal Red or Buckeye Blue or use a version that provides insufficient contrast for legibility.

H. Imagery

Do not use the Ohio Identity on photography that provides insufficient contrast for legibility.

Color

2.2 Specifications

The Ohio Identity's color palette is iconic and purposeful. Many of the colors have been branded with memorable, Ohio-centric names.

Primary Color Palette

The primary palette of red, white and blue colors are inspired by the state flag, the uniquely shaped Ohio burgee.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: certain colors are specified with different PANTONE® color values depending on coated or uncoated paper applications. Be sure to follow the guidelines as outlined.

Secondary Color Palette

The secondary colors allow for a wide range of possibilities, and usage in all seasons. A variety of both cool and warm tones are represented. They range from an optimistic modern blue (inspired by some of the top tech companies) to a comforting forest green to a solid and sturdy gray.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: certain colors are specified with different PANTONE® color values depending on coated or uncoated paper applications. Be sure to follow the guidelines as outlined.

2.2 Restrictions

A. Pairing Colors

Do not use the Cardinal Red and Buckeye Blue in a manner that visually vibrates.

B. Secondary Palette

Do not use secondary colors as the predominant color of a design.

C. Other Colors

Do not use colors that are not part of the brand's palette.

D. Tints

Tints may be used for all colors except Cardinal Red.

Typography

2.3 Styles

Our selected typefaces are modern, clean, legible, and flexible in their variety of weights.

Source® Sans 3 and Source® Serif 4 are open source typefaces available on Google Fonts, aiding in the ease of implementation across all agencies and divisions for the State.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: when downloading files from Google Fonts, be sure to install the "static" fonts (e.g. Light, Regular, Bold, etc) rather than the "variable" fonts as these are not fully supported by all apps.

Source® Serif 4

2.3 Guidelines

Primary Style

Source® Sans 3 is the primary typeface for the brand. It should be used for all headline and subhead styles as well as body copy.

Use care when selecting weights to create a contemporary design style across all materials and media. Furthermore, attention should be given to the size and placement of each typographic element to ensure both legibility and a clear hierarchy of information throughout all brand assets.

Secondary Style

Source® Serif 4 is the secondary typeface for the brand. Use should be minimal as a complement to Source® Sans 3. It's also suitable for long format content such as documents and letters.

Kerning & Tracking

kerning = optical

tracking = -5 for body copy, light and regular weights

Leading (Line Spacing)

Maintain a comfortable amount of leading that's neither too tight or too loose for an optimal readability and design aesthetic.

Alignment

The recommended style is left aligned and ragged right.

Type may be centered when appropriate, though justified text should never be used.

Line Length

To aid legibility, please ensure that line lengths are not too long or too short.

2.3 Restrictions

A. Styles

Do not use typefaces that are not part of the visual system.

B. Contrast

Do not use weights that are too similar when differentiating kinds of information, like headlines and subheads. As a general rule, skip a weight for better contrast and/or use color to aid in contrast.

C. Proportions

Do not alter, expand, or condense the typefaces in any way.

Imagery

2.4 Photography Style

Photography focuses on distinctive locations, memorable moments, and emotional connections.

2.4 Guidelines

Overshoot the moment

Rather than trying to capture the perfect moment in one shot, having a series will help ensure the ideal, genuine moment is captured.

Be mindful of background settings

Whether shooting tight or wide, make sure people, landmarks, etc. are positioned in ways that enhance the overall composition.

Avoid using a flash

Use natural light instead for better depth and contrast.

Shoot long lens (or with a shallow depth of field)

This allows you to stage foreground people and objects, and the selective focus creates an intimate focal point.

Authenticators

2.5 Authenticators

Although not always required, location identifiers are part of the brand's authenticity and transparency, especially for public-facing communications. Photos and footage show inspiring destinations throughout Ohio, and we welcome people to discover them and make their own memories there.

Lower Placement

The authenticator should appear in the lower portion of the image when it will not visually interrupt the overall layout (falling between the headline and other elements like body copy). Depending on the composition, it may be placed to the right or left side of the photo.

Authenticators should be set in either Source® Sans 3 Italic, or Source® Sans 3 SemiBold Italic if displayed at smaller sizes (e.g. website and digital).

Upper Placement

When paired with a headline and body copy (especially in a vertical format), the authenticator should be placed in the upper portion of the image. This preserves the integrated nature of the headline and photo and doesn't visually interrupt the relationship between headline, body copy and identity.

Authenticators should be set in either Source® Sans 3 Italic, or Source® Sans 3 SemiBold Italic if displayed at smaller sizes (e.g. website and digital).

Graphic Pattern

2.6 Graphic Pattern

Another tool in the visual system is an eye-catching graphic pattern. While not required in every layout, the geometric shapes and tech blue color add an element of depth and a modern sensibility. The graphic pattern should be used sparingly. It should appear only on a white background, and used to fill negative space.

2.6 Specifications & Restrictions

The graphic pattern should be used to complement the overall design. As a provided design asset, it can be cropped to highlight a particular section or used as a small graphic bar.

Tints

The graphic pattern was created using tints of Buckeye Blue and Tech Blue, conveying a modern, high-tech aesthetic. Do not change the color, tints, darken or lighten the graphic pattern.

Angle

The angle of the stripes has been specifically designed to correspond to the angle of the script type in the logo. Do not skew or rotate the graphic pattern in any way that would change the angle.

Design Guidelines

2.7 Design Guidelines

From print to digital to out-of-home and so much more, the brand design guidelines provide "consistency with flexibility" when it comes to layout and appearance.

Example Print Ad

Graphic Pattern

If paired with an image, the graphic pattern should be used as a bar at the top of the layout.

Grid

The grid used for headline and body copy alignment depends on the medium (print, eBlast, digital, etc.) and amount of content.

In this example, both the headline and body copy are left justified, with the vertical placement of the headline enhancing the design and working in harmony with the heart of the photo.

The headline is set in Source® Sans 3 Semibold, while the copy can be displayed in either Source® Sans 3 Light or Regular, depending on displayed point size.

Call-to-action

When including the URL in the body copy as part of a call-to-action, it should appear in Source® Sans 3 Bold, styled in Cardinal Red, matching the same style used in the logo lockup.

Mohican State Park in Loudonville

The heart of adventure.

With 75 free state parks, world-class amusement parks, big time ballparks, and thousands of events, Ohio has a whole summer full of fun!

Follow your heart at Ohio.org

Authenticator

Placement for authenticators can be in either the upper or lower portion of the image (depending on overall composition and format of the piece), placed to the right or left side.

Photography vs White Space

When using photography, it should be the most dominant feature of the layout. The general guideline is 2/3 (or more) image and 1/3 white space. That said, do not overcrowd the layout with too much copy or visual assets. Allow an ample amount of white space around copy, CTA and identity.

Ohio Identity

The brand logo + theme should appear either on white, or as a white logo reversed over an image. Placement is flexible depending on the medium but generally should serve as the visual anchor of the messaging.

Example Digital Ad

Graphic Pattern

If paired with an image, the graphic pattern should be used as a bar at the top of the layout.

Grid

The grid used for headline and body copy alignment depends on the medium (print, eBlast, digital, etc.) and amount of content.

In this example, the headline, logo and CTA are centered horizontally. The placement of the headline enhances the design and works in harmony with the heart of the photo.

The headline is set in Source® Sans 3 Semibold.

Call-to-action

The call to action should always be displayed in Source® Sans 3 Bold. In this example, it works as a button reversed out of Tech Blue.

Authenticator

Placement for authenticators can be in either the upper or lower portion of the image (depending on overall composition and format of the piece), placed to the right or left side.

Photography vs White Space

When using photography, it should be the most dominant feature of the layout. The general guideline is 2/3 (or more) image and 1/3 white space. That said, do not overcrowd the layout with too much copy or visual assets. Allow an ample amount of white space around copy, CTA and identity.

Ohio Identity

The brand logo + theme should appear either on white, or as a white logo reversed over an image. Placement is flexible depending on the medium but generally should serve as the visual anchor of the messaging.

Example Out-of-Home

Ohio Identity

The brand logo + theme should appear either on white, or as a white logo reversed over an image. Placement is flexible depending on the medium but generally should serve as the visual anchor of the messaging.

Graphic Pattern

When used without a photo, the graphic pattern should appear only on a white background to fill negative space.

URL

The URL should appear as part of the identity lockup unless paired within the body copy as part of a call-to-action.

State Agency & Program Identities

2.8 State Agencies & Programs

The "Ohio, The Heart of it All" brand is designed to offer flexibility with consistency, uniting all state agencies and programs.

2.8 Formats

Brand Logo + Agency/Program | Horizontal and Vertical

Two lockups — horizontal and vertical — have been designed for maximum flexibility and should be used based on what is appropriate to the given design composition.

A template has been designed using the correct size and weights of Source® Sans 3. All Agency and Program Identities should utilize this tool to maintain consistency.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: design guidelines for all Agency and Program Identities should adhere to the same standards outlined for the Ohio Identity; see pages 12-20 for approved formats, color variations, specifications, and restrictions.

Brand Logo + Agency/Program + URL | Horizontal and Vertical

When necessary, the Agency or Program Identity can be paired with a specific URL. Size and placement have been carefully determined to maintain proper visual hierarchy. All versions of the brand logo + agency + URL lockups should follow this composition.

2.8 Formats

Brand Logo + Multiple Agencies/Programs

Horizontal and Vertical

In certain instances, multiple agencies and/or programs (2 or more) can be displayed together. Accordingly, two formats have been created. The vertical format stacks 2 or more, while the horizontal format places 2 or more side-by-side. In both cases, a rule separates individual agencies/programs. This formatting includes divisions, URLs and taglines.

In both formats, the Brand logo is placed to the left of the lockups, with a vertical rule falling between it and the agencies.

Due to spacial considerations, the agency/program names (2 or more) are displayed at a smaller size relative to the brand logo compared to when a single agency is used (as seen on page 45-47). Accordingly, a template has been designed using the correct size and weights of Source® Sans 3. All Agency Identities should utilize this tool to maintain consistency.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: design guidelines for all Agency and Program Identities should adhere to the same standards outlined for the Ohio Identity; see pages 12-19 for approved formats, color variations, specifications, and restrictions.

2.8 Messaging

In certain instances, the agency logos may be part of a larger marketing or internal communications piece, pairing with images or copy. Agency-specific headlines should appear in sentence case, and build up to "Ohio, The Heart of it All."

Do not modify or customize the approved brand logo + theme lockup. Agency-specific URLs can be customized if necessary, matching the same type and color treatment as used in the brand logo + theme lockup.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: see page 39 for design guidelines, including specified type styles for headlines.

The heart of gratitude.

The heart of honor.

The heart of service.

Co-Branding

2.1 Co-branding

Co-branding is a powerful tool to maximize the brand message. Whether seen in print, digital, video, or other media, balancing the Ohio Identity with partner brands is vital.

2.1 Specifications - Static

Primary Lockup

When the Ohio Identity is used with other marks in co-branding situations such as print, digital, etc, the identity should be placed to the right or on bottom of the partner logo.

The primary, secondary and URL formats as well as all approved color versions can be used based on the overall composition, format and need of the application.

A single black or white rule should divide the marks with equal distance appearing between both.

Secondary Lockup

Ideally, the partner logo and Ohio Identity are of equal size (as seen in templates to the right). In certain instances with limited space, the Ohio Identity can be reduced in size, but never less than 70% of the recommended lockup ratio.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION: An exception to this guideline is for instances where existing partner creative doesn't allow for the primary lockup and won't be redesigned to accommodate it. In this case, the Ohio Identity may appear in its individual space within the overall composition. See pages 12-19 for approved formats, color variations, specifications, and restrictions.

2.1 Specifications - Video

When the Ohio Identity is used in co-branding video or motion graphics, the following guidelines apply:

Logo usage

The Ohio Identity does not need to appear until the end of the video. If time allows, the partner logo should appear first (completing the partner message) on a solid white background, followed by the Ohio identity.

If time constraints demand both logos appear together at the end, the Ohio Identity should be positioned to the right or below the partner logo (the orientation depends on whether the partner logo is vertical or horizontal in design).

A minimum of 2.5 seconds should be allocated for the logo frame(s).

Authenticators

While not mandatory, authenticators provide a helpful transparency to our message. These descriptors appear on screen identifying the locations featured.

For co-branding videos centered on a single destination no authenticator is required, as the entire video is dedicated to that location. For montage-type videos the authenticators are used to identify different locations throughout the edit. Once a location has been identified, it does not need to be labeled in subsequent shots of the same location.

Brand Voice

3.1 Guidelines

The “Ohio, The Heart of it All” theme comes to life in the copy we use and the brand voice we create. Every effort should be made to help reinforce the theme while creating continuity between campaign elements. The writing style has been purposefully crafted into a flexible yet consistent, two-pronged approach:

“The heart of ...”

This technique lets us define reasons that Ohio is the heart of it all. When used singularly (as in applications like print, OOH, static digital, etc.), these phrases promote a specific attribute of Ohio. When used in a series (video, TV, etc.) they build momentum and build up to the main theme line.

The heart of opportunity.

The heart of adventure.

The heart of small business.

The heart of prosperity.

The heart of big dreams.

The heart of big ideas.

The heart of technology.

The heart of education.

The heart of imagination.

The heart of health care.

The heart of creativity.

The heart of microchips.

The heart of championships.

The heart of family time.

The heart of the arts.

The heart of culture.

The heart of the outdoors.

The heart of aviation.

“All the...”

Another approach that can be used in messaging emphasizes the “All” within our theme. This method promotes the abundance of attributes of Ohio, and is especially useful in storytelling scenarios. Again, this approach should lead up to the brand theme.

All the house you dreamed of, and great neighbors too.

All the opportunity to grow your career.

All the jobs and great neighborhoods too.

All the adventure you can’t wait to share.

All the road trips you can handle.

All the flavors a foodie can imagine.

All the possibility for success.

All the affordability, plus warm welcomes too.

All the state parks you’ll love exploring.
